The meeting started with a presentation of Prof. Daphne Kos linking the topics on technology from this year's annual RIMS conference to clinical relevance for rehabilitation practice. The presentation on sleep was interesting and educational in both a personal and professional matter. Sleep matters for activity and participation. Three presentations of newcomers in our group presenting their research or clinical practice was also very welcomed. Thank you all for your contribution. Also, thank you to all the participants for attending the meeting. We hope you left to go home with new ideas, new inspiration or new friends in your network. We will continue the topic on technology for our autumn in-between meeting in the MS rehabilitation center in Genoa, Italy. We hope to see you all again there.
